

July 14, 2010, Daily News

Wednesday, 14 July 2010

Last Updated Wednesday, 14 July 2010

IPTV services revenue to touch $46bn

CIOL

CALIFORNIA, USA: Global IPTV subscribers number will reach 102 million in 2014, at 25 percent CAGR, finds Multimedia Research Group, Inc. (MRG) in its ...

Cable: FCC's AllVid Goes Too Far

Light Reading

... cross-industry gateways and special adapters that can bridge managed TV services (cable, satellite, IPTV) with the wonders of the Web. ...

IPTV: Coming with a Bang

Technology Digital

Global IPTV subscribers number is expected to reach 102 million in the year 2014, at 25 % CAGR, as estimated by Multimedia Research Group, Inc. (MRG) in its ...

Google lobbies to open-up IPTV

HEXUS

In a recent blog post Richard Whitt, Washington telecom and media counsel at Google, makes the point that 'convergence' is an overused term, ...

New Bally TV(TM) In-Room Video Technology Debuts at the Miccosukee Resort ...

MarketWatch (press release)

Bally TV is a collaborative innovation from Bally Technologies and InfoValue(R), a company regarded as a pioneer and expert in IPTV. ...

Virgin Media may challenge Canvas

Broadcast

Speculation is growing that Virgin Media will mount a legal challenge against IPTV service Project Canvas. Broadcast provides a range of advertising ...

IPTV star lights up Musser Public Library

Muscatine Journal

Decked out in a yellow cape and super-charged with enthusiasm, Wardell, host of IPTV's "KIDS Clubhouse," brought his Reading Road Trip to a crowd of almost ...

Orange 'in talks to join Project Canvas'

Digital Spy

By Andrew Laughlin, Technology Reporter Orange is reportedly in negotiations to replace Five as the seventh partner in IPTV joint venture Project Canvas. ...