

Dec. 8 2005 DAILY NEWS

Thursday, 08 December 2005

China expected to choose MPEG-4 standard for IPTV

DMasia.com - Montigny sur Loing, France

MPEG-4 will most likely be chosen as China's IPTV coding standard, according to research firm Analysys International.

The standard ...

BBC tunes into BT's IPTV service

Register - London, England, UK

BT's broadband TV service isn't due to be switched on until next autumn but already the UK's dominant fixed line telco is making a song and dance about hooking ...

BellSouth Preps IPTV Screen Tests

InternetNews.com - USA

... In his presentation, Feidler noted that the Atlanta company is still evaluating the business opportunity for IPTV. Over the past ...

BellSouth Plans IPTV Launch, Expands VoIP Applications

xchange Magazine - Phoenix, AZ, USA

said this week it will launch a market trial of its IPTV service next summer. ... The IPTV launch was announced as BellSouth renewed its agreement with DirecTV. ...

BT Lines Up IPTV Content Providers

Telecomweb - USA

A slew of competition-critical content deals are setting the stage as BT moves closer to cutting over its forthcoming IPTV service, set to launch in 2006. ...

BT secures content for planned IPTV service

PC World Magazine - Australia

... In October, BT announced plans to launch a commercial IPTV (Internet Protocol TV) service, using technology from Microsoft and Koninklijke Philips Electronics ...

China on the threshold of IPTV explosion: reports

Indiatelevision.com - Andheri, Mumbai, India

MUMBAI: Chinese media has reported that China Telecom and China Netcom are well positioned for a massive launch of IPTV in the country. ...

BT bags IPTV rights to BBC archive

C21Media - London, England, UK

... In October British Telecom unveiled details of its Freeview Plus hybrid IPTV/DTT service, which it plans to launch in the UK next summer, as competition in the ...

SureWest And HDNet, 1st To Launch US HD Over IPTV Service

Digital-Lifestyles.Info - London, England, UK

California based telecoms company, SureWest Communications, is set to become the first company in the USA to offer HDTV commercially over its Internet Protocol ...