

Aug 24, 2011, Daily News

Wednesday, 24 August 2011

Last Updated Wednesday, 24 August 2011

AT&T ramps up its U-verse technician force in Connecticut

FierceTelecom - Sean Buckley - 7 hours ago

AT&T (NYSE: T) is capitalizing on the growth of its U-verse TV service with plans to add over 80 new technicians in Connecticut to support the IPTV business ...

Study reveals paid-for digital TV revenues reaching peak

Cable.co.uk - Nigel Adie - 9 hours ago

For example, paid direct-to-home broadcasts are expected to become the most popular TV platform by 2014, while cable TV and IPTV revenues are predicted to ..

BT launches cut price TV, phone and broadband bundle

uSwitch.com (Tech) - Henri Walkley - 8 hours ago

Households can pay an initial price of just £4 per month for the TV Essential + Broadband and Anytime Calls bundle, which offers access to the BTVision IPTV ...

IPTV not a cashcow, analyst says

BroadbandWatcher - Geoff Slaughter

It seems that according to a recent report IPTV is not a cashcow at all. Analyst company, Digital TV Research (DTRV) said that internet TV services were ...

BroadbandWatcher

KPN testing its boundaries

Broadband TV News - Robert Briel

KPN came relatively late to the game with its IPTV product and live football ... At the time of the introduction of the KPN IPTV service, the focus was on ...

NCTC to Offer Members PCT International's Channel Master Home Networking ...

TMC Net

PCT, a provider of last-mile and premise products and solutions for broadband communications networks, claimed that its retail brand, Channel Master, has already been offering several IPTV (News - Alert) and home networking products via the retail ...

: Research and Markets: Slovenia - Telecoms, IP Networks, Digital Media and ...

Techzone360

TV access is dominated CATV which has a 52% market share of subscribers, followed by IPTV with 41 %, and satellite TV with 5%. Multichannel Multipoint Distribution Service (MMDS) technology has about 1.6% market share. IPTV growth is expected to be ...

IPTV "unlikely to ever make too much headway in the UK", finds report

IPTV News

IPTV is unlikely to ever make much headway in the UK, according to Digital TV Research: fewer than 1mn homes are forecast to pay for IPTV services by 2016. As a result of this, IPTV revenues will remain low, reaching just US$ 226mn in 2016.