

Jan. 1, 2012 Daily News

Sunday, 01 January 2012

Last Updated Sunday, 01 January 2012

Alcatel Lucent sets up Israeli multimedia center

Globes

Alcatel Lucent SA (NYSE; Euronext: ALU) is setting up a multimedia development center in Israel, which will work on Internet-protocol television (IPTV), multiscreen video services, focused IP multimedia systems (IMS), and other telecommunications ...

Batelco launches key fibre-based network

Gulf Daily News

Among the many advantages of using fibre is its efficiency and ability in delivering high bandwidth connectivity required to support value-added services like IPTV and video on demand 3D TV and 3D gaming, which will be available in the future. ...

Report: Worldwide pay-TV revenue to hit $236B at end of 2012

Communications, Engineering & Design Magazine - Dec 21, 2011

The increased rollout of IPTV services by competitors was also cited as another reason for cable's diminished share next year. "Cable TV services will still ...

Batelco rolls out hitech fiber network

Trade Arabia -

Furthermore, residents of major real estate projects including Riffa Views and Reef Island can now enjoy high end IPTV services over Batelco's Fibre Network ...

Internet TV here to stay

New Straits Times

LIVING room entertainment is set to scale new heights this year, as iPTV (Internet Protocol Television) and Net devices become more mainstream. iPTV, in particular, promises something different for everyone. Its appeal lies in the fact that it allows ...