

Feb 6, 2012, Daily News

Monday, 06 February 2012

Last Updated Monday, 06 February 2012

Telekom to attack Sky in Bundesliga rights battle

Rapid tv news

Telekom, which currently only holds the IPTV rights, also eyes the satellite rights this time, the magazine reports with reference to managers at the telco. If Telekom manages to win the rights package which currently costs around €225 million per year ...

The Euro50 Q&A: Mario Pino, Etisalat

DigitalTVEurope.net

Etisalat is emerging as a global player in the delivery of over-the-top multiscreen TV services, and Mario Pino, director, business development and strategy, digital media services unit, has been instrumental in developing its IPTV 2.0 platform.

Deutsche Telekom mulling assault on football rights

DigitalTVEurope.net

According to press reports, Telekom wants to bid not only for IPTV rights it currently holds but also for satellite rights, following the launch of the satellite version of its Entertain TV service. A bid by Telekom could raise regulatory concerns ...

SureWest to sell Kansas City, Sacramento operations to Consolidated Communications

FierceCable

The deal gives Consolidated, a rural telco and IPTV provider with operations in Illinois, Pennsylvania and Texas, SureWest systems counting 130000 residential subscribers and 15700 commercial customers in the Kansas City and Sacramento regions.

ACE counter Digistar plans move to Main Market

Malaysia Star

"A move to the Main Market will give investors a better perception of the company's track record and performance," said an analyst who tracks the development of the company that provides broadcasting engineering and Internet protocol television (IPTV) ...

Quickflix welcomes HBO as strategic investor

Technology Spectator

America's largest premium TV company HBO has offered a $10 million investment for a 15.7 per cent stake in Australian IPTV and DVD rental by post company Quickflix. Quickflix went into a trading halt pending the announcement of a new equity investor, ...

More Australians switch on IPTV: Study

CIO Magazine

More than 300000 Australian households have changed channels to subscription IPTV which could pose challenges for operators such as Foxtel, according to a new study by analyst firm, Telsyte. The firm forecasts more than one third of all subscription TV ...

Digigram moves fast into the IP video arena at ISE 2012

Broadcast Engineering

Digigram introduced the AQILIM *FIT and AQILIM *SERV/FIT all-IP video software for IPTV, webTV and mobile operators at ISE 2012. The compact devices offer software encoding, transcoding, transrating and 1TB of HDD storage. AQILIM devices are able to ...

Verizon and Redbox partner on Netflix streaming rival for 2H 2012

SlashGear

Verizon and Redbox describe the IPTV aspect as including "expanded content offerings"; suggesting back catalog shows and older films, though that's not yet confirmed. Still, with Verizon involved, streaming direct to phones and tablets looks like a ...