

May 6, 2012, Daily News

Sunday, 06 May 2012

Last Updated Sunday, 06 May 2012

Wireless growth, Optik TV expected to keep Telus results on top

Globe and Mail

Beyond wireless, the market will be watching the gains made by Telus' Internet Protocol TV (IPTV) service called Optik TV. The company has already reached its initial target of passing 2.2 million homes with its IPTV infrastructure, while Bell still ...

Sky News Arabia takes to the air

Rapid tv news

The channel will be broadcast via free to air satellite on transponder 15 on Arabsat Badr 4, transponder 14 on Nilesat 201, and via IPTV in the UAE on ...

Traditional TV Viewing Offers Cable an OTT Opportunity

Vision 2 Mobile

The cable, satellite or IPTV provider that can package it all together with a consistent viewing experience and the right content discovery mechanisms in place stand to win big. "Connected consumer electronics, particularly smart TVs, are changing the ...

Why IPTV is the Future

PC Magazine

Dumb, too, because it doesn't take full advantage of the IPTV distribution model that should be a fourth way to get broadcasts—a standalone method.

Global IPTV subs pass 60 million

DigitalTVEurope.net

Global IPTV subscribers numbered close to 60 million by the end of last year, according to research by Point Topic. The last three months of the year saw the biggest quarterly increase in IPTV subscribers to date, according to the researchers.

IPTV - Subscribers Up in a Competitive Market

SYS-CON Media (press release) (blog)

By RealWire News Distribution According to leading broadband analyst firm Point Topic, global IPTV subscriptions closed in on 60 million at the end of 2011, with the last yearly quarter witnessing the biggest three month increase in subscribers yet.

BBC to launch app companion for Antiques Roadshow, asks you to price up ...

Engadget

By Mat Smith posted May 4th 2012 12:56PM Perennial evening schedule-filler Antiques Roadshow will launch a new companion app in the UK, connecting PCs, smartphones, tablets and BBC's red button feature on TVs to the show, as it goes out live.