

May 13, 2012, Daily News

Sunday, 13 May 2012

Last Updated Sunday, 13 May 2012

Hands on: Foxtel Catch Up TV

Sydney Morning Herald (blog)

Every time a new digital TV channel, IPTV service or online Catch Up TV service is launched in Australia, it makes it just that little bit harder to justify paying for Foxtel each month. Rather than bury its head in the sand, Foxtel is actually doing a ...

Verismo launches MelaTV multiplatform service

Rapid tv news

Internet TV company Verismo Networks has released the MelaTV IPTV application for the Indian subcontinent, featuring single-sign-in access across devices. Content for the service will include entertainment channels, cooking shows, sports and live news ...

Verismo Networks announces the release of MelaTV on Multiple Platforms

Embedded.com

Samir Sohail, General Manager of Mela, is a seasoned business development and merger / acquisitions expert for IPTV market, along with setting up distribution channels and executing on key third party alliances. Mela is poised to become the largest ...

SeaChange completes on broadcast sell off

Advanced Television

SeaChange has completed the sale of its broadcast server and storage business. The sale to the new independent company XOR Media has closed following customary regulatory approvals. SeaChange CEO Raghu Rau commented: "This sale is an important part of ...

STC picks Huawei for metro network

Trade Arabia

STC has developed IPTV and mobile broadband services in recent years, rapidly expanding the growth of its metro network services in Saudi Arabia. It is now facing an urgent demand to construct "ultra-bandwidth" metro networks, a statement from the ...

STC Selects Huawei Technology for Saudi Arabia's Next-Generation ...

Zawya (registration) (press release)

As the biggest operator in the Middle East, STC has developed IPTV and mobile broadband services in recent years, rapidly expanding the growth of its metro ...

AT&T Suspends U-verse TV On Xbox Option To Re-Engineer Kit

Multichannel News

By Todd Spangler -- Multichannel News, 5/13/2012 7:03:25 AM AT&T's U-verse TV customers currently can't order a hardware kit to equip an Xbox 360 as an IPTV set-top box, as the telco said it's revamping the product to "improve and enhance this ...