

July 22, 2012, Daily News

Sunday, 22 July 2012

Last Updated Sunday, 22 July 2012

Teracue IPTV Highlights at IBC Show 2012

openPR (press release)

Teracue IPTV Systems will be showcasing its new products for professional IPTV/DVB headend design, broadcast IP video-networking and for system integration at the IBC Show in Amsterdam September 7 - 11, on stand 442 in Hall 14.

YouView TV service finally unveiled at £299

PC Pro

By wittgenfrog on 4 Jul 2012 It implies that its dual Freeview HD tuner-based so you could record two off-air whilst watching IPTV. If you're a Vision customer, it's essentially business as usual with a new HD box (no price) and enhanced programming via ...

YouView will not get high definition Now TV

TechRadar UK

By Patrick Goss July 16th 2012 Although it was billed as a key addition to the YouView platform, Sky's Now TV will not be available in HD on the forthcoming IPTV service for the UK. Sky's Now TV is the company's non-subscription streaming service and ...

Edgware to supply nPVR to Netstream

Broadband TV News

Edgware has become the latest IPTV operator to be associated with Netstream, the Swiss managed IPTV service. Netstream, has chosen Edgware's Distributed Video Delivery Network (D-VDN) framework to provide advanced IPTV services, including catch-up TV ...

Edgware signs Swiss wholesale deal

DigitalTVEurope.net

Distributed video specialist Edgware has announced that Swiss IPTV wholesale supplier Netsream has chosen its Distributed Video Delivery Network (D-VDN) framework to provide catch-up TV, pause live TV, network DVR and VOD services to operators.

Sky Launch NOW TV Pay To View And Subscription Based Internet TV Service

World Internet TV on PC (blog)

NOW TV will then gradually become available on iPhones, iPads and Xbox later during the year, as well as the BBC backed YouView IPTV service. Sky has promised that the service will be developed for other devices and platforms as well including PS 3 and ...