

Aug. 21, 2012, Daily News

Tuesday, 21 August 2012

Last Updated Tuesday, 21 August 2012

IPTV Push For Multiscreen Viewing

MediaPost Communications

But when it comes to some top Internet-based video platforms, research has revealed many IPTV service providers do not support -- as yet -- streaming services, such as YouTube, Hulu, or Netflix. In addition, only a minority of IPTV operators -- one ...

Harney takes over as iNovo Broadband CEO

FierceIPTV

Telecommunications veteran Michael Harney has been named the new CEO of iNovo Broadband, a fledgling Duluth, Ga.-based company "specializing in provider-centric CPE." The appointment adds to what the iNovo Web page describes as a "management ...

Study: 83% of video operators plan to offer TV Everywhere by 2013

Communications, Engineering & Design Magazine

"In particular, multi-screen video is gaining momentum across all pay-TV operator types (cable, satellite and IPTV) in all regions: 83 percent of the operators we interviewed plan to offer some type of multi-screen viewing -- PC, smartphone, tablet -- by ...

VITEC Enhances its Family of Professional-Grade Optibase Portable IPTV ...

Virtual-Strategy Magazine

The high-performance MGW Nano is a rugged, professional-grade HD H.264 encoding and streaming appliance featuring low-latency encoding and real-time ISR metadata support. The MGW Micro Premium Decoder is a professional IP Decoder with wide ...

Belgacom launches TV Everywhere

IPTV News

Belgian telco Belgacom will launch a TV Everywhere service called 'TV Partout/TV Overal' at the beginning of next month, enabling subscribers to watch TV both at home and on the go, on a PC, laptop, tablet or smartphone. The telco has been offering a ...

Triple-play subs to rocket past 400mn by 2017

IPTV News

The number of triple-play subscriptions (voice, video and data) will increase sharply over the next five years to reach 400mn by 2017, thanks to the combined efforts of cable operators globally and pay-TV providers in China, according to UK firm ...

Apple TV said to be in IPTV set-top talks

FierceIPTV

Some stories, unlike old soldiers, never die or fade away; they keep being resurrected and re-spun as the need arises. That, at least, could be a cynical view of the most recent report in the Wall Street Journal that Apple (Nasdaq: AAPL) is-- again ...

Agama to Launch Microsoft® Mediaroom® Edition of DTV Monitoring Solution ...

Reuters

The solution offers Mediaroom-powered IPTV operators the same powerful presentation, aggregation, reporting and alarming functionality that has established Agama as a trusted service assurance solution provider worldwide. The Agama DTV Monitoring ...