

April 3, 2013, Daily News

Wednesday, 03 April 2013

Last Updated Wednesday, 03 April 2013

TELUS to Improve IPTV Service - Analyst Blog

NASDAQ

According to a report presented by ABI Research firm, IPTV market share registered 11.5% growth in 2012 as compared with 10% in fiscal 2011. Therefore, we believe that IPTV will be the next big thing for the telecom companies. So, making investments at ...

Aereo wins another round against broadcasters

FierceIPTV

Aereo has again prevailed--at least for the moment--in its long-running battle with broadcasters that disagree with its business of receiving and retransmitting their signals without reimbursement. IPTV--and other pay TV providers--pay increasingly ...

Axtel enhances IPTV service with Verimatrix

Telecompaper (subscription)

Multi-network, multi-screen digital TV services provider, Verimatrix has announced that Mexican telecommunications company, Axtel has chosen the Verimatrix Video Content Authority (VCAS) for IPTV to secure its new service, which combines IPTV ...

SkitterTV helps bring IPTV to rural Missouri

IPTV News

Skitter TV has won a contract with Kingdom Telephone, a small telco based in rural Missouri, to provide IPTV services including around 70 free-to-air and cable channels to the latter's customers in Callaway and Montgomery Counties – in exchange for a .

Vivacom adds new TV channels to IPTV offer

Telecompaper (subscription)

Bulgarian operator Vivacom enriched its IPTV offer with the addition of new channels. From April, customers can access the Eurosport 2 channel (in standard definition and HD), Fox in high definition, the news channel News7 HD, as well as Baby TV.

300% growth forecasted for cardless CAS market

EE Herald

ABI says Cardless CAS has been used for a number of years in two-way IPTV systems, where the set-top box can exchange information continuously with the CAS server. However, these systems provide many opportunities to offer robust security that differ ...

Ericsson in talks to buy Microsoft's IPTV unit: report s IPTV business, which makes software used by phone companies such as AT&T Inc. to deliver television over the Internet, Bloomberg reported, quoting people with knowledge of the matter. Bloomberg said the transaction could be announced as soon as the ...

Livemint