

May 1, 2013, Daily News

Wednesday, 01 May 2013

Last Updated Wednesday, 01 May 2013

Maxis, Astro offer broadband, IPTV bundles

Telecompaper (subscription)

Malaysian communications provider Maxis has introduced a broadband and entertainment bundle with Astro, combining broadband and Astro B.yond IPTV. The companies are offering their customers a 10, 20, or 30 Mbps broadband service bundled with ...

Astro B.yond IPTV kicks off

The Sun Daily

KUALA LUMPUR (May 1, 2013): Astro Malaysia Holdings Bhd has teamed up with Maxis Bhd to offer the much anticipated Astro B.yond Internet Protocol television (IPTV) service, with packages starting from RM185.95 per month for a family pack and 10Mbps ..

Kenanga Research Optimistic On New Maxis - Astro IPTV

Bernama

KUALA LUMPUR, May 2 (Bernama) -- Kenanga Research is optimistic over the new Maxis-Astro IPTV launched recently and has led it to increase the Financial Year 2014 and 2015 net profits by 2.4 per cent and 9.9 per cent, respectively. "We are upgrading ...

Brazil's Log On Multimedia: "Wireless technologies are key to developments in ...

IPTV News

Eduardo Mace, president of Brazilian media company Log On Multimedia, discusses how over-the-top services compare to traditional pay-TV in Brazil, and the key role that mobile technologies like 4G will play in development of IPTV cloud frameworks.

Microsoft Executive Pete Thompson Joins SeaWell Networks Board of Directors

Fort Mills Times

As the Vice President of Microsoft Mediaroom, a technology leader for IPTV platforms and visionary for multiscreen experiences, Thompson brings extensive market awareness, knowledge and experience to the SeaWell team. Since joining Microsoft in 2006, ...

Bell Aliant reports first quarter 2013 results - Stockhouse

Stockhouse

The competitive environment is intense and we are prevailing by offering customers in our FTTH markets the best Internet technology available today and a premium IPTV service, giving us a competitive advantage that will serve us well for years to come.