

Jan 8, 2014, Daily News

Wednesday, 08 January 2014

Last Updated Wednesday, 08 January 2014

Sony plans IPTV service C21Media

Sony is to launch a cloud-based TV streaming service in the US later this year, allowing users to watch live TV and VoD content on its TVs and ...

CES 2014: TiVo reveals second screen viewing behaviour

IPTV News

At today's CES TiVo have announced that streaming to mobile devices among its subscriber base is on the rise and driving longer periods of engagement on ...

Beijing lifts longstanding ban on games consoles

WantChinaTimes

A subsidiary of the Shanghai Media Group (SMG), the company is listed on the A-share market and is the first media firm in China to offer IPTV, television ...

Comigo and Octoshape team-up to deliver an end-to-end social and ... IT News Online

Joint solution brings the quality, economics and scale of cable, satellite and IPTV solutions to multi-screen broadband. Tel Aviv, Israel and Phoenix, Opera, TechniSat and Verimatrix provide smooth TV browsing for ...

IPTV News

Opera Software, together with consumer-electronics manufacturer TechniSat Digital and Verimatrix, a specialist in securing and enhancing revenue for digital TV ...

CES 2014: "53% of Americans believe mobile devices will replace ...

IPTV News

New research from Irdeto that explores consumer television and video viewing preferences revealed that 53% of consumers believe that mobile devices like ...

Sony's launching a new 'cloud based' TV streaming service in the ... Engadget

SSCEA president Andrew House just announced Sony's launching its long-rumored IPTV service, as a cloud based offering with both live TV and ...