

June 16, 2015, Daily News

Tuesday, 16 June 2015

Last Updated Tuesday, 16 June 2015

REPORT: Google is in talks on broadcasting rights for the NRL

Business Insider Australia

News Corp-owned Fox Sports has digital streaming rights to five games a week on IPTV and tablet devices and is now halfway through the $1 billion five-year ...

Singtel selects SoftCast to add resilience to playout

Rapid tv news

Singapore telco Singtel has embarked on an ambitious plan to expand and enhance the playout capabilities for its IPTV offering. SingTel High Res Logo ...

Aurora launches tuner with IPTV decoding and ships QXT-700

AV Magazine

Aurora Multimedia has launched an innovative tuner which offers IPTV decoding, and started shipping the first platform-agnostic, tablet-ready, fully autonomous ...

PlayStation Vue announces a-la-carte offerings

IPTV News

Sony is to launch an a-la-carte version of its cloud TV service PlayStation Vue. The new version will offer consumers across the US the option to subscribe to ...

Ericsson decides against big M&A in wake of Nokia/Alcatel-Lucent ...

FierceWireless

Ericsson bought Microsoft's (NASDAQ:MSFT) IPTV Mediaroom business in April 2013; in July 2014 Ericsson bought Telcotech, which specializes in system ...

Sky: "The OTT challenge is TV quality at TV scale"

IPTV News

IP&TV News: How big a challenge does the content delivery side of its converged offerings present to for Sky? Ben Forman: The challenge is huge, for several ...

Pay-as-you-go: Sky Sports Month pass announced for NOW TV

IPTV News

NOW TV, Sky's online streaming service, will launch the Sky Sports Month pass as part of a series of new developments. The new Sky Sports Month Pass is ...