

May 18, 2016, Daily News

Wednesday, 18 May 2016

Last Updated Wednesday, 18 May 2016

AT&T's Massive Late-Year Push Into Streaming is Taking Shape

DSL Reports

One of the cornerstones of AT&T's strategy appears to be gradually phasing out its IPTV U-Verse TV service, and pushing all new users toward either DirecTV ...

Vega launches new IPTV packs

Telecompaper (subscription)

Ukrainian telecommunications group Vega has launched a new line of IPTV packages. The starting package includes Ukrainian TV channels, as well as a VoD ...

SK Telecom, Telkom Indonesia team for IoT, smart products

Enterprise Innovation

Provided by SK Telecom's wholly-owned subsidiary Entrix, Cloud Streaming is an innovative solution that enables media companies including cable, TV, IPTV ...

Make Exits, Not Unicorns: Voyager Charts the Early Stage VC Course

Xconomy

Voyager's initial investment in Elemental Technologies, in May 2008, followed years of watching the growing IPTV and video streaming markets. Other startups ...

Romania: pay-TV stats and strategic digital vision

Broadband TV News

However, according to data produced by the regulator ANCOM and published by Mediaexpres, both the DTH (+4.3%, to 2.42 million) and IPTV (+25.7%, ...

Netgem adds Hopster and Wuaki.tv

Advanced Television

The #TelcoTV platform incorporates broadcast TV with IPTV and HTML 5-based OTT content to enable telecoms providers to deliver a complete experience to ...

Telstra ups live sports offering with netball broadcast rights

ZDNet

Revenue for its IPTV business, including the Telstra TV, was AU$34 million, a decrease of 19 percent. IPTV subscribers grew by 17.9 percent, to 224,000. Telstra ...