

Jan. 12, 2017, Daily News

Thursday, 12 January 2017

Shaw announces licensed premium-TV service BlueSky

The Globe and Mail

Shaw has been working with Comcast for about 18 months to develop the service with a view to competing with Telus's IPTV (Internet-protocol television) service ...

VITEC Acquires Stake In Anevia's Share Capital

Yahoo Finance

Anevia is a global leader in OTT and IPTV solution software for the delivery of live TV and VOD. Founded in 2003 by the developers of the well-known VLC ...

T-Hrvatski Telekom takes control of Montenegrin telco

DigitalTVEurope.net

The company had 60,100 IPTV customers at the end of last year, along with 73,100 broadband customers, 140,300 fixed phone users and 179,000 mobile ...

UTStarcom Holdings Corp (UTSI) Upgraded at Zacks Investment ...

Sports Perspectives

It designs and sells IP-based telecommunications infrastructure products including its primary product suite of IPTV, and broadband solutions along with the ...

Axia announces fibre optic expansion to Fairview

Fairview Post

It also means reliable availability of VMedia IPTV, Ooma Voice over IP and numerous other cloud based services offering feature-rich options for markedly less ...

Telefónica makes eSports move

TBI Vision

A new channel, Movistar eSports, which will be available on channel 29 on Telefónica's IPTV and DTH satellite platforms, will offer coverage of competitions ...

Windstream chooses Viamedia for expanded ad sales

Rapid TV News

"Viamedia is a clear leader and the right choice to manage our television ad sales in these markets," said Terry Roush, director, IPTV and satellite product ...