

Jan. 9 2008 Daily News

Wednesday, 09 January 2008

Panasonic IPTV takes Web link to next level

Seattle Times - United States

LAS VEGAS — Panasonic is getting attention at the Consumer Electronics Show for its big, thin and wireless TVs. It's showing the world's largest plasma — a ...

Verimatrix Selected To Secure RealPage's IPTV Service For The ...

broadcastbuyer.tv (press release) - London,UK

RealPage Inc., has selected the Verimatrix Video Content Authority System (VCAS) for IPTV to secure content on StarFire, RealPage's new IPTV service ...

India issues license fees for IPTV operators

America's Network - USA

The Reuters report said telecoms firms, cable operators and some internet service providers are permitted to provide internet protocol television (IPTV) in ...

CES 2008: IPTV Plasma from Panasonic

Techtree.com - Mumbai,India

A first in the industry, Panasonic has previewed an IPTV Plasma under Viera PZ850 series at the Consumer Electronic Show (CES) 2008. IPTV provides access to ...

Largest Chinese Program Offered on IPTV Platform First Time Ever

U.S. Asian Wire (press release) - South Plainfield,NJ,USA

Due to unrestricted channel capacity and no geographic boundaries, IPTV allows an unlimited amount of Great Wall programming to reach viewers worldwide. ...

Microsoft at CES: Xbox getting IPTV, possibly Blu-ray

Ars Technica - Boston,MA,USA

There are some caveats to this IPTV service, such as the fact that users will not be able to leverage the DVR functionality of a dedicated set-top box. ...

Microsoft: 1 Million IPTV Set-Tops Served

Broadcasting & Cable - New York,NY,USAMicrosoft, hoping to demonstrate that its Mediaroom Internet Protocol TV system has passed a vital milestone, announced that its IPTV software now serves up ...

Crafty dev gets IPTV running on Nintendo Wii

Ars Technica - Boston,MA,USABy Frank Caron | Published: January 09, 2008 - 01:01PM CT Now that the Xbox 360 and PlayStation 3 have surmounted the IPTV barrier, only Nintendo's Wii is ...

CES Update: Real Networks wants to be your 'music dial tone'

San Jose Mercury News - CA, USA

One is Mediaroom, the company's software that underlies IPTV services including AT&T's U-verse. IPTV essentially delivers just one channel at a time to each ...

Broadcom covers all IPTV bases with Microsoft deal

OCRegister - Santa Ana,CA,USA

IPTV connects the set-top box to a computer network and can also let people watch Internet-based shows, choose video-on-demand programming and use ...