

May 9 Daily News

Sunday, 08 May 2005

China awards

IPTV licence to Shanghai Media Group

Informitv - UK

China has issued the first licence to operate an IPTV service to Shanghai Media Group. SMG is China's second largest media group ...

Sonaecom

plans IPTV launch in 2005

Telecom Paper (subscription) -

Houten, Netherlands

Portuguese telecoms operator Sonaecom is planning to launch an IPTV service later this year. The company is planning to use the ...

China

Shapes Up for IPTV Boom

Light

Reading - USA

As IPTV fever takes hold in North America and Europe, there are increasing signs that it's rapidly spreading to the world's biggest single potential market ...

IPTV

supporters hoping for better luck in reruns

CommsDesign - USA

As usual in the tech arena, the weapons have sharp acronyms -- ADSL2+, VDSL, FTTx, AVC and VC-1. Together they add up to IPTV, a triple play of high- and ...

SARFT awards China's

first IPTV license to Shanghai Media Group

Interfax.cn - Russia

... May 9. INTERFAX-CHINA -

Shanghai Media Group (SMG) has secured an official license to operate IPTV (internet protocol television) and mobile TV services in ...

Shanda Q1 And Q2

Predictions

Pacific Epoch

(subscription) - Hong Kong, Hong Kong

... However, with

IPTV still a complete unknown and a lack of solid game pipeline, a move into the lower margin but relatively stable WVAS and portal business is

...

Half
on broadband by 2009: study
Australian
IT - Australia
... rate of 25 per cent. IPTV, HDTV and set-top boxes will become the digital media outlets, the study predicts.
"Revenue per user is ...